STUDENT LIFE

A Night "Under The Big Top"

On the night of October 12, 1984, we began our Homecoming game with the band playing the national anthem and the Alma Mater. The Matadors kicked off to a slow start but by halftime, they had recovered with a lead of 28-10 over Rancho.

One of the most exciting moments of the evening was at halftime with the presentation of the 1984-1985 Homecoming Court. They entered on a colorful float preceded by a circus train which carried clowns and cheerleaders. The introduction of our princesses followed the procession. The princesses stood in front of the backdrop with the theme "Under the Big Top" which was represented by a circus tent, clowns, and balloons.

The Homecoming Court consisted of two senior princesses, Lori Weir and Carol Anderberg, a junior princess, Celeste Martinez, sophomore princess, Caroline Matney, and freshman princess, Sandy Reyes. In honor of his retirement, Mr. Shaw announced the 1984-1985 Homecoming Queen, Lori Weir and Spirit Queen, Carol Anderberg. When Lori was asked how she felt, she replied, "I was excited to have been nominated. It was a dream come true. I kept telling myself I would wake up and everything would be gone. I'll never forget that night." Carol was asked the same question and she said, "It made the whole night seem like a dream come true when I received the crown and was able to represent the class of '85 as the winners of Spirit Week."

Although Rancho came back and won the game 39-28, the activities of Homecoming were a tremendous success.

Total Unusualism in Action

The Homecoming assembly was the highlight of Spirit Week. Anticipation filled the air as students from the past and present entered the festively decorated gym. Everyone could feel the tension as competitiveness increased. The sophomores wasted no time in taunting the other classes while the seniors conserved their energy for the right moment. The freshmen were excited, the juniors were waiting to show their stuff.

The audience received a treat by watching Bolsa's "Ultra Sonic Body Rock" perform. Then head coach Greg Shadid introduced the varsity football team amidst cheers and applause. Silence overwhelmed the gym as the princesses from each class were introduced. The spirit continued flowing as the cheerleaders performed their routines before a packed gym.

Finally, the big moment arrived. Confetti was tossed through the air as each class competed for the spirit banner. After singing the Alma Mater, we knew it was over. But it was an assembly that no one would soon forget.

Monday, the first day of Spirit Week, was a great success. Students from every class dressed like twins. The juniors acquired a fast lead by taking first place in class competition which was a human wheelbarrow race. The seniors were close behind at second, the sophomores were third, and the freshmen were fourth.

Tuesday was fluorescent day with each class competing in the grab bag event. Everyone turned out to watch the seniors even up the score with the juniors by taking first place in the competition. The juniors took second place. The sophomores stayed at third, and the freshmen were once again fourth.

Wednesday was pyramid day at Bolsa. Students arrived at school in their favorite hats and funkiest glasses. The people with the best balance were the sophomores and they proved it by winning first place. The seniors held strong at second, and the juniors dropped to third while tying with the freshmen.

Toga, toga, toga. You guessed it! Thursday was toga day, and everyone was draped in his favorite sheet. Lunch time competition was the traditional lip sync. This event belonged to the seniors who sang "I Love L.A.". The sophomores did well, taking second place; the juniors were third, and the freshmen were not represented.

Friday was especially exciting for the last day of spirit week had arrived. The final event was spirit competition. The students were dressed in school colors. Only ten points separated first place from third! The competition was tough and the sophomores were even tougher, taking first place. But the seniors, the class of '85, won spirit week for the second consecutive year.

B.G. Carnival Starts Off the New Year

On September 7-9, 1984, Bolsa Grande held its first fundraiser carnival. The carnival was co-sponsored by the All Sport Boosters and the Associated Student Body.

The All Sport Boosters Booth offered baked goods, hot dogs, and shaved ice. All the food was donated; baked goods were prepared by the Boosters club.

The A.S.B. sponsored the dunk tank which received much attention when Mr. Wise and many of the faculty members and students fell prey to the water. The Senior class sold balloons and sponsored the bean bag toss booth. The Junior class sponsored the dart throw booth while the Band Boosters operated a ring toss for cash prizes. The Pepsters operated the difficult softball toss.

The carnival was a success in raising funds and in involving students and the community in Bolsa's first major activity of the 1984-1985 school year.

"Who was Sadie, anyways?"

It was the night of November 2, 1984 and everything seemed normal. But at 7 p.m., music could be heard from the girl's gym. As you approached the gym, people in western clothing were scuttling about and putting up booths. Suddenly, you realized that this was the Sadie Hawkins dance which was sponsored by Girls League.

More and more of your friends arrived and everyone was having fun. You looked around; the gym was festively decorated with streamers and hay. The lights were turned down low, but you could still see the jail, the marriage booth, the honeymoon booth, and the kissing booth. All that dancing to Prince, Cyndi Lauper, and others made you thirsty, so you went to the refreshment booth and bought popcorn as well.

You then noticed the picture booth, so you gathered all your friends together and got your pictures taken. Suddenly, you realized it was late — how time flies when you're having fun. As you leave, you wonder, "Who was Sadie, anyways?"

Hey, wait a minute! The names sound familiar, but he doesn't look like Charlie Brown and Snoopy doesn't look like a beagle. Oh, now I get it! The drama department has put on its first production of the year — "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown!".

This fine musical was adapted from Charles Schulz's cartoon strip, "Peanuts", and it was presented in the cafeteria on November 15th, 16th, and 17th. The cast, crew, and advisor, Mrs. Karol Benner, put in many long, hard hours of work to get their act together.

The main characters were played by Manuel Payan (Charlie Brown), Sheri Wiseman (Lucy), Marcus Long (Linus), Everette Bacon (Schroeder), Denise Renfrow (Patty), and Angela Sanders (Snoopy). Other characters were played by Catrina Bryant, Tina Esquivel, Emily Petralia, and Jeff Chandler.

The play was a tremendous success; it was even videotaped. What do you think of that, Snoopy?

Meet the Candidates

On October 31, 1984, students were in the middle of history being made with a new political awareness which they will never forget. There were six goals and objectives, not the least of which was getting them ready to vote intelligently by being well-informed on the propositions, candidates, and issues.

The highlight of over four weeks background work was to MEET THE CANDIDATES. On this date, 150 Civics students converged on the library for another step in their election project.

The opportunity to meet candidates is given to Mrs. Brazelton's civics students every two years for the general election, every four years for state and local elections with the school board elections in between. National election takes precedence over all others. On this date, the students were ready to pursue dogmatically the issues, and challenge the most astute candidate.

During the questioning period, one candidate contradicted himself. Students picked up his inconsistencies with the mental acuity and political acumen of a polished critic from the opposition party! As students relentlessly hammered away at a weak link in the candidate's basic philosophy on the issues, Mrs. Brazelton asked Mr. Wise, who was listening on the sideline, "Should I pull a Barbara Walters and stop this line of interrogation?" The WISE man said, "No way, let them go. I love it! If the candidates can't stand up under the pressures of our civics students, how will they ever stand up under the pressure of the office?" Mrs. Brazelton stepped back proudly and let the candidates defend themselves!

Here was an active constituency exercising what de Tocqueville called "Tyranny of the Majority". This was indeed better than the apathy and ignorance encumbering too many students with negativism and doubt about their roles in democratic society. It was an exciting time and yes, there was something in it for everybody.

"The Glamorous Life"

The semi-formal Christmas dance, which was held on December 21, 1984, attracted quite a large and good crowd. The junior class sponsored the dance and raised almost $400 which would go towards the 1985 junior-senior prom. The entertaining music was provided by the junior class and by the D.J. John Fox who kept everyone dancing to the latest hits. Among the more popular tunes were hits off the year's biggest selling movie soundtrack, Purple Rain, by Prince. Among the other popular songs were "Glamorous Life" by Shiela E. and "Cool It Now" by New Edition. For those who wanted to take a break from dancing, there was a refreshment stand serving cold drinks. All in all, the dance was quite a success and a great way to start the Christmas vacation.

Slam . . . Bam . . . Wham!

Three, two, one — the final buzzer and the end to a most exciting basketball game with Bolsa coming out on top. What could be more appropriate for the Homecoming game than a 47-46 victory over the Los Amigos Lobos?

The halftime festivities were beautiful. All the Homecoming Queen candidates and their escorts were introduced, and then the big moment came. Jennifer Walker was announced and honored as Queen, but the star of the night was the basketball team.

Nam Cao played an outstanding game, scoring almost half of the points with 20. David Valdez added 8 to the scoreboard, and Pat Swoboda ended the night with 8 points and 7 rebounds. Without a doubt, the last 3½ minutes decided the game. At this point, Nam, who was 8 of 9 free throws that night, made 2 free throws, putting the Matadors ahead to stay. The Matadors marched out victorious, making a wonderful homecoming complete.

Moment of a Lifetime

Tension filled the air as everyone waited for the announcement. The tension was broken when the name Brian Howe was announced as Homecoming King. He joined the Homecoming Queen, Jennifer Walker, whose name was announced at the halftime.

It was January 18, 1985, and Bolsa was playing Los Amigos. It was an exciting game with Bolsa prevailing 47-46. The A.S.B.-sponsored dance started at 10 o'clock after the game. The seven seniors on the varsity team were king candidates while the eight queen candidates were nominated by the clubs on campus. The students then voted for their favorites on scantrons — a first!

The successful dance was held in the boys gym. Brian and Jennifer danced to the song "The Homecoming Queen's Got a Gun." The theme song was "You're the Inspiration" by Chicago. Pictures and refreshments added to the fun of the dance. The dance complemented the game.

The scene was the Anaheim Ballroom at the Anaheim Convention Center on February 8, 1985. Rain was gently falling, welcoming the couples as they prepared for the Co-Ed. This annual dance, sponsored by Girls League, started at 8:00 p.m. and lasted till midnight with the highlight of crowning Brian Howe as king and Brent Rudy as prince.

Everyone was immaculately dressed at this girl-ask-guy winter formal dance. The music was provided by a D.J. who varied the music and the tempo. The colors, ice blue, silver, and white, represented the dignified feeling while the rain, unfortunately, brought the couples back to reality.

The lead character's first wife was brought back as a ghost in a seance and only her husband could see or hear her. Jim Bowser in his acting debut played Charles Condomine, the main character. Brandon Hart also made his acting debut, but the rest of the supporting cast had much experience. They were Patty Dahlberg, Laura Tully, Jacqueline Huynh, Angela Sanders, and Tina Esquivel. Thanks to their performances, the play was a great success.

Striving For Excellence

Every year, the Drama Club is open to everyone, even if he does not, or has not, taken drama. The Drama Club's purpose is to promote an interest in seeing drama and to encourage participation in acting. It also promotes involvement in the production of plays. Membership fees are $1.00 per semester to help lower the price for buses on field trips or other expenses. Their activities include trips to the studios in Los Angeles to watch tapings of shows and to have tours, to see plays together, to go to drama conferences and competitions at local colleges, and to help with the drama productions at Bolsa.

The International Thespian Society is a worldwide honorary drama organization. To become a member, a person must earn ten points (each point equals approximately 10 hours of work), through acting, directing, building sets, and rehearsing the plays. The Thespians earn stars for every ten points past initiation and an honor bar at 50 points. The student who earns the most points at the end of each year has his/her name placed on the perpetual plaque.

The Thespians work on advanced acting projects such as the student/faculty dinner theatre and a Christmas play that they present to local elementary schools and old folks homes. What a treat!

The M.G.M. club was formed in 1974 and it meets the needs of the intellectual student by providing the opportunity to meet with peers and participate in various activities with them. Any student enrolled in one or more honors classes at Bolsa may join this elite group. The major goal of this club is to develope the individual, not just intellectually but socially, for society needs well-rounded individuals.

C.S.F., or California Scholarship Federation, is one of the many clubs on the Bolsa campus. Originally formed in the early 1900's, it's been at Bolsa for about 22 years. The current advisors are Mrs. LaVerne Pilkerton and Ms. Jan Cox. C.S.F. recognizes students who maintain good scholarship at Bolsa. To apply for membership, a student must have a 3.7 G.P.A. or higher (3 A's and 1 B in academic subjects — no D's or F's). At graduation, seal bearers wear gold stoles and receive gold pins to indicate their membership. Here is where the outstanding scholars and future Einsteins may be found. Are you one of them?

"Hola! Bienvenidos al Club Español," The Spanish club, advised by Mrs. Burwell, is a separate club from the Foreign Language Club. Though it was just formed this year, it has been extremely active.

The members of this cultural club must take or have taken Spanish as a language class. The members frequently dine together at Mexican restaurants and speak and order in Spanish. The Spanish club had many fundraisers to raise money for a trip to Ensenada, Mexico. The club also performed la posada, a religious celebration, during Christmas time. The main purpose for the club was to promote cultural, learning experiences and to have fun.

Guten Tag! Bienvenu! The newly formed Foreign Language Club wants its members to acquire a better understanding of different cultures and to participate in cultural events. Mr. Akerboom, Mrs. Burwell, Mrs. Hickman, and Mr. Shaw are the advisors.

To gain more knowledge about the three cultures, the Spanish pupils performed la posada on December 19, 1984, and the French and German students held a Mardi Gras with Fäsching on February 18, 1985. La posada is a Christmas ritual; the Mardi Gras and Fäsching are pre-Lent festivals with food, music, and games. With the help of the F.L.C., students can learn more about their European counterparts.

New Club Hits Campus

This year was the first year to organize a Civics Club at Bolsa. Mrs. Brazelton, the advisor, felt the students needed a Civics Club because this year's senior students were so involved and knowledgeable about our government. The members were students who were enrolled in a Civics class which meant only seniors were members. The club was formed to bring political speakers to campus. All students that were enrolled in Civics had to do a community project. There was also a fundraiser project — selling chocolate bars, chocolate Santa Claus, and Statues of Liberties — for one of the things that the club planned to do was to go on a field trip to Sacramento for a day. They went to the Governor's mansion and they met the State Assemblyman, Richard Robinson. This year's president was Julie Lucas, vice-president was Liz Almaraz, secretary was Jodel Hirata, and the treasurer was Walter Wardak.

Jesus said, "If we follow him, he will make us fishers of men."

This is a club that seeks out truth and not wrong. The Matadors for Christ are guided by a person who sits above the clouds of all nations. We meet in fellowship to spread peace and joy to all who come our way. In our master's eyes, we are a family united as one. We turn and give to those that are in need; as the book of life says, it is better to give than to receive. So we stand brave and strong as our belief leads us on.

The art club consists of advanced art students who have shown great interest in the areas of painting and drawing. It is for any student wishing to become more informed of the techniques and styles of art. The members of the art club have gone on two field trips in the 1984-85 school year. These class trips were planned with the field of art in mind, such as the Los Angeles Art Museum. The advisor for this organization is Mrs. Arlene Willis, the president is Pat Malies, Vice President is Gina Ruiz, and Secretary is Delia Smith.

Girls League at their Peak

Girls League, as the name suggests, is an organization for females only. It has been on campus for approximately 22 years and it has improved with age. The current advisor and librarian, Mrs. Osborn, tries to install greater responsibility and etiquette in the twelve members of Girls League.

Girls League is responsible for the annual Co-Ed, Sadie Hawkins dance, and the selling of programs at football games. The members also usher at graduation, sell candy canes at Christmas, and choose Girls of the Month. It is a wonderful learning experience — sorry, guys.

Choir Hits a Sweet Note

Bolsa is fortunate for it's one of the few high schools in the county to have a Hand-Bell Choir.

Members should have some music reading ability, but anyone interested has the opportunity to be in the group. It is limited to 13 players. The Bells are brass and consist of 4 octaves (49 bells) which correspond to the white and black notes on the piano.

The smaller bells play the higher octave and bells get larger, the lower the pitch of the note.

Each player is responsible for at least two bells at a time.

This year the Bell Choir will perform at 3 major concerts: Christmas, Spring, and Pop. Besides these school concerts they perform many places in our community. So far this year they have performed at Murdy school, Orange Coast Community Church, Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and at the District office this year for their Christmas Concert.

The Acappella Choir is one of the three Choirs here at Bolsa. This group is a mixed group of both women and men.

Anyone may enter this choir without previous choir experience. It is a perfect first choral experience and provides an opportunity to learn a variety of musical styles and develop vocal techniques. Auditions are not required to be in this choir.

This year's group is very dedicated and full of enthusiasm. Acappella performs at 3 major concerts each year: Christmas, Spring, and Pop. Those singers wishing to sing solos have opportunities throughout the year.

This choir is not a select group and has little opportunity to participate in Festivals and Competition. This honor is saved for Concert Choir. Acapella's awards and rewards come from within, when they hear how they improve as the year progresses.

Next year's goal is to have students in this choir.

sitive group of people. They learn three part music of styles such as Classical, Renaissance, Romanic, Folf and Pop. The girls ensemble give three concerts this year; Christmas, Spring, Pop; they also sing at other schools, various places in the community, and a chance to compete in a festival. Any girl who is interested in this choir must go to a private tryout with Mrs. Baughman. The major requirements is to sing in tune and to be sensitive to music and others. At the end of the year one person is chosen and given partial scholarships to Arrowbear Music Camp, and the best musician's name will go on a plaque. This is just one of four choirs at Bolsa.

Although Concert Choir has been the most select choir at Bolsa for many years, anyone may audition for this group. Members must be talented, sensitive, and dedicated. Besides the three major concerts (Christmas, Spring, and Pop), this group performs for many community activities. This years group has performed for several churches, the Santa Ana Rasons, Feeder Jr. High Schools, and received excellent ratings at the Park Newport Carolfest. They were also honored by being asked to perform at the District Office this year.

This group went on tour and participate in a festival in San Francisco during Easter vacation. Members also performed as a soloist or in a group for the Dessert Concert at the end of the year. Special awards were given to all graduating seniors who fulfilled the requirements, and the most outstanding member received a special award.

X-tra, X-tra, Read All About It

The staff of the Matador News has worked diligently to produce a school newspaper that is interesting and enlightening to the student body of Bolsa Grande.

The use of animals for medicine, teenage suicide, gang violence, and capital punishment are only a few of the topics that have affected 1984 and '85 and are just a sample of the many newsworthy topics covered in the Matador News.

Like any type of teamwork, the staff had its ups and downs, but when it came time, the members united to produce a school newspaper to the best of their ability. Together, they made the Matador News something for all Matadors to be proud of.

An Unusual Gathering

"Jean, how do I do this layout" or "Jean, when's the next deadline?" are frequent questions heard in room 309 during 6th period. That's because this is where and when Bolsa's yearbook and newspaper staffs congregate. As chief editor of the yearbook, Jean Burger has the prime responsibility of making sure everything gets turned in on time and that the yearbook is flawless. Jennifer Johnson is the assistant editor who helps Jean and the other staff members in any way she can.

Putting the yearbook together is a complicated act with three separate staffs working to produce the book. The photo staff takes the "candids" and "mugs" in the yearbook, and the layout staff fits the pictures on the pages or "spreads" of the yearbook. The copy staff then writes headlines, captions, and the stories in the yearbook. The entire yearbook staff and Mr. Holly, the advisor, hope you enjoy this book.

We've Got the Beat

This year's marching band played a significant part in the promoting of school spirit. They performed all year in pregame and half-time shows during football and basketball seasons. They could even be seen marching through the halls of Bolsa playing our school songs. The band performed with the tall flags and rifles and banners in various parades and competitions as well as athletic events.

Throughout the year, the band has practiced diligently, performed at various festivals, and had fundraisers to save money to buy new instruments. With their instructor and advisor, Mr. Bumatay, the band has definitely hit the perfect note.

If you like to be involved, exude spirit, and aren't afraid to stick up for what you want, then you're a perfect candidate for A.S.B. The associate student body or student body government plans activities for students at Bolsa, such as dances, skate parties, movie nights, and class competitions. A.S.B. is also responsible for planning assemblies, football and basketball homecomings, and selling concessions.

This year, there were two sets of cabinet members

With this new system, more students were able to be involved. Led by Mr. Lipold, A.S.B.'s 27 members made life at Bolsa more fun and interesting!

The senior class is an outstanding class and one I'm proud to be a part of and represent. We've experienced four outstanding years at Bolsa. The class of '85 has excelled in academics, athletics, leadership, and has been very involved in school through our clubs, sports and friends. We will be remembered for our extraordinary spirit, academic excellence, and the impressions we have made upon Bolsa Grande.

We have shown our involvement and spirit as Matadors by easily winning TWO Homecoming crowns and Class of the Year. We have also developed many lasting relationships which we will remember along with our friends, special teachers and coaches, our good times, and our experiences in high school for the rest of our lives.

We will also leave a lot behind. Our spirit as Matadors will remain with us, but we will leave lasting impressions on Bolsa. We have spent four vital years of our lives at Bolsa and we will be remembered for it. We will always remember that the Class of '85 is ALIVE!

Dave Valdez and Lori Weir

Dave has played on the football, basketball, and baseball teams all four years at Bolsa. He has been on varsity for three years and has been honored as an All League Player in football. He is currently captain for these sports. Dave says, "I just love sports."

Lori has been an important member on the volleyball and basketball teams throughout her four years at Bolsa. She was also on the swim and track teams for two years. Lori has always enjoyed sports and has decided to major in sports medicine.

Best Dressed

Oscar Galindo and Jennifer Jordan

Even as a baby modeling pampers, Oscar has always dressed well. He has graduated from white diapers to a black and gray wardrobe (which mom and dad dislike). Oscar, who doesn't think he dresses well, shops at Chess King and thought Jennifer was was the best dressed girl.

Jennifer's mother thinks she dresses like a bag lady, but obviously the seniors disagree. She loves sales, black, white, scarfs, skirts and "boring colors." She thinks she dresses normal and doesn't even think about what she's going to wear the next day.

Best Looking

Carol Anderberg and Brian Howe

With her natural beauty, Carol Anderberg was voted the best looking female in the senior class. She plans to move to San Diego in order to attend Grassmont College and pursue a career as a dental hygienist. Carol loves people and wants to help people.

It is easy to see why Brian was voted best looking with his dark, wholesome good looks. After graduation, Brian plans to attend Santa Ana College and to be on the water-polo team. He enjoys dancing, going to church, school activities, and socializing with girls.

Best Personality

Carol Anderberg and Manuel Payan

Carol has a wonderful personality to match her good looks. She loves people and likes to ski, swim, sing, and spend time with her boyfriend Glen. According to her friends, Carol is sweet, funny, kind, and considerate. But what she really wants is a dolphin!

To Manuel, personality shows that he cares for others and for himself. He feels that he can help others; when people who are down see and feel his enthusiasm, they might be happier for at least that moment. His personality is doing its job when he can help others.

Most Intelligent

Siew Ho and Neeraj Srivastava

As one of our most intelligent students, this year, Siew Ho has had a 4.0 through all four years at Bolsa. After high school, Siew plans to attend U.C.L.A. and major in Biology. Siew has received awards in English, Biology, German, and History, for being such an outstanding student.

With a name like that, Neeraj almost has to be intelligent to spell it correctly every day! Neeraj has won many science awards and intends to major in electrical engineering. He enjoys working with computers, and doing physics problems. What a life!

My Most Unusual Experience

Liz Almarez: When I was a freshman, I went into my third period class (Rylands) and after sitting down, I noticed something written on the desk. It said "Dawn Latchford," and since Dawn was my friend, I casually wrote down next to it "Hi, dawn, from Liz." The next day, I walked back in, sat down, and as I glanced down at the desk, I was shocked — on the desk was written "Dawn didn't write this, I did." For about two or three weeks, I was wondering who "I" was. For all I knew the person could have been totally laughing at me. Anyways, that week I went to a school dance and I met a guy there and we started talking, then I asked him to dance. I was having a great time until he asked me if I had Ryland third period. Right then I knew he was the person, I almost died. He has been my boyfriend ever since.

Dana Assink: Running to Mr. Shadid's room so I wouldn't be tardy. I slipped and slid down the hallway. Luckily, no-one saw but my bud Lori Weir. (Remember Lori?)

Rachel Avery: Knowing Sharon Pullen for all my high school years; never a dull moment in high school.

Cynthia Baldonado: In geometry class, Mr. Walker was going over the days assignment. It was really boring, and I was very sleepy. Tim Couch, who sits in front of me, was already asleep, and I was soon to be fast asleep. We both slept through the entire lecture. When I finally woke up, I saw Mr. Walker with a spray bottle of Windex spraying both Tim and I to see who would wake up first, and the whole class was laughing.

Maureen Barlow: The date was Dec. 1, 1984. It was Laura Sorenson's B-day. She had a couple friends over for a "party," or get together. She said let's go somewhere. Mind you, it was pouring outdoors. Laura's conclusion was to go to Disneyland in the rain. So we all piled in a Little Datsun and were off to Disneyland, we stayed for six hours. By the time we arrived back home we were soaked. But we all had a great time.

Hilda Barrera: In twelfth grade, as a late B-day present my boyfriend gave me a watch. An hour later I went to the girls restroom, my watch had slipped off my wrist, and I flushed it down the toilet.

Jean Burger: The night of the 1984 Co-ed. The evening started off like any other night. Dinner at a nice restaurant, then off to the dance. It all seamed normal at the time; the crowning, pictures, and the distribution of souveniers. Shortly after, things began to change. By this time we were getting bored, anything sounded like fun . . . In the distance we saw a fun center . . . we took a short walk. Inside the fun center were trampolines, we looked at each other in our formal attire, then at the trampolines, and said, "What the heck!" One can only guess what happened after that.

Cathy Cisneros: When I was a freshman Jared Hirata took me to the prom, everything was fine until after dessert. I got up and discovered I'd spilt chocolate Mousse all over my dress. While he was laughing, I wanted to die! I was so embarrassed.

Cathie Colon: Every day of my life.

Lisa Costich: When I was a freshman, I first started seeing Bobby. Paige and I were best friends and we found out at lunch that Bobby was getting in a fight fifth period. We both planned to get out of fifth period at 12:15 to go see it. After Mr. Olson finally let me out of class with the staple as a pass I met Paige in front of her class. I was so nervous that I stapled my thumb. I never saw the fight (it never happened), but I did get the staple out, in sixth period, proving what a typical scrub is made of.

Michelle Curry: When I was a freshman, Angela Sanders, Lisa Costich and I were in Drama class, when we had a pizza delivered. All that week we had been calling it project Fit. Doug Canen was so mad when we wouldn't tell him what it meant and even more upset when he didn't get any pizza.

Michelle Duncan: When Mr. Shadid wrote in my sophomore yearbook " . . . maybe we'll see you in a powerlifting magazine. Remember you need to work out all body parts — not just the bench press" and my boyfriend read it.

Jennifer Ellis: When I was dancing at the Prom, and the elastic in the shoulder of my dress broke. My boyfriend had to take off his boutinier so I could pin my dress so it wouldn't fall again. I couldn't dance the rest of the night for fear of losing the whole top of my dress.

Kim Engel: When I pushed Brian Howe backwards over a bench into the mud. He was head over heals.

Oscar Galindo: One time my Freshman year, I was standing around talking to a couple of girls and Javier Hernandez came from behind and pulled down my shorts. Luckily I had my fruit of the looms under my shorts and Dave Valdez tried to pull down my fruit of the looms too! But I got away and pulled my shorts up.

Leonard Gares: When I was doing our Christmas play at an old folks home and I was talking to an old lady and I asked her how she liked the play and she just began to cry.

Kristen Ham: When I was on JV Yell and I accidentally grabbed the referee in the butt while doing a cheer at a basketball because I wasn't paying attention when they started the cheer so I didn't see him in front of me.

Javier Hernandez: In my freshman year, I got a "B" in Geography.

at Bolsa Was . . .

Siew Ho: Walked into the boys locker room when a guy was taking a shower. I didn't know! Ooops . . .

Jennifer Jordan: As a sophomore, I continuously had to leave my health class because watching movies on childbirth would make me pass out.

Julie Lucas: The very first day of my freshman year I wore white pants. Liz, Val and I went to school early, we had nothing to do so we sat down where the bull used to be. The benches were wet so I sat on my folder which at the time, I didn't realize it had fresh graffitti written in ink on it. I had to spend the whole first day of high school with embarrasing, legible graffitti on my derrier!

Dawn Lynch: Paying Stacey Smith to do my homework for me.

Joan Macauley: I remember when I was a freshman I was really happy I made Varsity Softball. I was pitcher and I thought I was pretty stoaked. One game I was pitching and I pitched the ball right over the backstop.

Keni Miller: The second day of school. I was in my typing class walking across the front of the room with all my books; suddenly I fell flat on my face, of course, all the other kids were in their seats watching me.

Tim Myers: When I was a freshman and two upperclassmen picked me up so that I was just high enough to be seen by the people in Mr. Orlando's room. They then talked me into "swimming" across the windows.

Charley Ogata: Seeing Larry Portwood at school.

Tammy Orrick: Getting in a car accident with a huge (parked) truck at school in the parking lot and finding out it was a teachers car.

Lewis Robinson: After the BG/LQ football game, I was waiting for some friends to get dressed, the locker rooms were locked so I was waiting outside. Three ladies were talking about the game, I started talking with them about the game and about Mr. Shadid and his play calls and mistakes, one of the ladies turned out to be Mr. Shadid's wife!! The most embarrassing part is that the next day everyone was asking me what I said and I can't remember.

Sharon Pullen: Pillow fighting at Tammy's weekend parties with all my favorite "Dudes."

Larry Portwood: One day I woke up late (believe it or not) and I had to hurry up so I could make it to school. Once I was ready, I started off to school. I noticed that no one was walking in the halls and that all of the rooms were darkened. I then realized that it was a school holiday and I shouldn't have been there.

Monica Solis: After attending Bolsa for 4 years, one day during my senior year, I walked into my third period typing class, thinking it was third period when it was actually 2nd period. I made the situation even worse when I asked a friend, who I didn't have in my class, what she was doing in there. After everyone stopped laughing, I realized that I had made a total fool out of myself.

Stephanie Smith: having to change my clothes on a school bus with sixty other kids for the first time.

Aaron Scott: Going to the 1983-84 Co-ed with someone who already had a boyfriend.

Stacey Smith: Coming to Mrs. Hickman's Saturday school shift in my pajamas. She loved it!! Love ya Mrs. Hickman. Love, Stacey.

Jeri Sparks: On my JV year of cheerleading when I attended camp, all the cheerleaders (our school plus about 20 other schools) were at an awards banquet on the last day. Varsity song and Varsity yell had already received their trophies, and at the moment that they announced Bolsa Grande for the third time, I thought it was for the JV trophy. When in reality it was the mascot trophy. I made the situation even worse when I ran up to accept it when it's the job of the head cheerleader, which I was not to accept the trophy.

Manuel Suarez: When I had to carry an egg that was made to believe that it was my child, so I took it to an orchestra rehersal for the first time, people just looked at me as if I were a looney; when I got up stage I felt like a suspect. The conductor even asked me what was in the box, I told him an egg, "my baby" the whole orchestra fell to laughter, I was so embarrassed that I couldn't play as good as I should have.

Anh Troung: When I was giving an oral report for the first time in English, I was shaking during the time,and shook everytime I walked in the class for two weeks.

Andrea Weigold: When me and my friend Denise sent our friend Michelle Curry on a scavenger hunt all over the campus all day for her presents on her 18th birthday.

Lori Weir: Was being presented the 1984-85 Homecoming crown by Lisa Shimomura. I feel very honored to have received such an honor. I will never forget that night.

Katrina Winchell: Was the night before the first day of school. The seniors were toilet papering the school. After everyone left we decided to take a swim in the pool. We climbed over the fence and the janitors caught Kerrie Summers and I swimming in our underwear.

FACULTY

This person is of medium height, has dark brown hair, and hazel eyes. Her job involves teacher roll sheets, student absence slips, ADA reports, absence phone call (Ben) and call slips. Her hobbies are collecting antiques and tole painting. Her favorite phrase to a student is "come on in." The most unusual excuse a student gave her for not being in school is, "my mother forgot to wake me up and did not find me until she made the bed." The most unusual excuse for not bringing a note was, "the dog ate it."

This secretary really has a big job. As the principal's secretary, she constantly answers the phone for students and/or teachers who always want to see Mr. Wise. She's responsible for processing purchase requisitions, making sure there is money in the budget to cover the requisitions, processing certificated payrolls, and classifying time sheets. She is a "Jill of all trades," and likes to read, garden, and travel. Mr. Wise's right-hand is short, wears glasses, and constantly watches her weight. She tries to be pleasant to the students when they come to the office but she says, "Bolsa is adding more gray hairs each month."

This teacher should be a "piece of cake" to figure out. With this little guy's picture, it is hard to imagine that he is now dark brown-haired, green-eyed, and stocky. Though middle-aged, he still retains his youth by getting outdoors and doing "anything physical." But, he has mellowed a little through music and meditation. Before he taught math, he was trekking the backpacking trails of the United States and Europe. Because of his love for the outdoors, he dislikes people's lack of respect for the environment but even more so, he dislikes the lack of respect in themselves.

This little football player grew to be 6'1, weighs 180 pounds, has blond hair, blue eyes, and owns a bad back and knees. He describes himself as an extrovert — renegade person. Before coming to Bolsa, he was the Assistant Principal at Santiago and also at La Quinta. He commonly asks "Hey, how's it going." His hobbies are: golfing, playing cards, and doing things with his family. But he will never invite students to his house again for a barbecue. What a surprise he got when a student pushed him into the pool! Learn how to swim!!!

This lean and mean guy, as he describes himself, is a counselor here at Bolsa Grande. He gives out excellent advice to the students — he learned from personal experiences. According to this counselor, he "used to play a lot," and this playful counselor enjoys traveling, family outings, and music. But loud motorcycles and squeaky beds are not music to his tender ears. They tend to bother him. As a counselor, he leaves us with something inspiring, just as a counselor should. According to him, "Even if you're on the right track, you'll get run over if you just sit there." What good advice!

What is Your Most Unusual Excuse?

This tall, slim, brown-haired, and brown-eyed teacher enjoys traveling, biking, gardening, and playing tennis. She belongs to the Business department and enjoys her students so much that she says, "Stay in your seats until the bell rings!" To succeed in business, a person has to be ambitious and aggressive, but she dislikes negative aggression. She takes out her own aggression by hitting those green bouncing balls and by riding her bicycle. Before becoming a teacher, she used to be a student just like the rest of us. Do you know who this business teacher is?

"It burned last night when our den caught fire. You can check with my father!" — Dan O'Donnell (Social Studies) 8. This worried kid is Mr. Reynolds! 9. Yes, that's Mrs. Unsicker!!

According to this sociable and enthusiastic teacher, "heads are going to roll" is one of his favorite phrases. He certainly is tall enough to reach some heads as he is 6'2". He has brown hair and brown eyes to match. Even though he is a member of the Social Science department, he is also Bolsa's student body advisor. He is very active himself as he enjoys basketball, skiing, camping, and fishing. Before becoming a teacher, he went to school and studied. There, he learned to finish what he started and today, he dislikes the people who do not finish what they start.

This multi-talented math teacher used to be a test engineer for the Curtis Wright Aeronautical Company. She also worked as a fiscal accountant for the United States Navy. Perhaps the Navy taught her not to "let the golden moment pass by." She has brown hair, brown eyes, wears glasses, and is 5'4". She enjoys reading and playing the piano, but she dislikes receiving homework or test written in ink. She also dislikes feet on desk tops or on book trays. This young child grew to be a busy woman as she is also the head of an academic club at Bolsa. Do you know who she is?

This secretary has very interesting hobbies. She collects Kewpie dolls, glass shoes, old recipes, and recipe books, and children's books. She knits and enjoys reading also. Her job includes being a secretary to Mr. Smith and Mr. Barriga. She does nurses duties, Saturday school assignments, is in charge of monthly athletic and activities calendar, prepares the athletic schedule, and arranges transportation for away games and school trips. She is 5'4½", perky, sassy and giddy blonde hair. She says, "Students are very special people and I love them. Personal contact with most of the students makes them feel special." Isn't that nice?

Well, here is a music teacher who loves to say, "Focus the tone in your head. Sing through your eyes." But before becoming a teacher, she just studied, studied, studied, studied, and practiced, practiced, practiced, practiced! But studied and practiced for what? Music, of course. Bolsa's songbird considers herself tall, dark, and handsome. She dislikes the lack of "teamwork" among certain students, and she dislikes kids who do not accept responsibility. Insensitive students are not her favorites, either. But she does enjoy skiing, playing the recorder, swimming, and naturally, singing. Do, re, mi, fa, so, la, ti, do!!

This tall, brown haired person has hazel eyes and loves to read and sew. Her most commonly used phrase to students is, "Let's see Mr. Barriga." Most students go to her without a note and say, "My mother forgot." The most unusual excuse for not being in school is, "I stayed home because I was sick of school, now I'm back because I'm sick of my parents." Her job deals with homework assignments, lunch permits, ADA reports, off campus passes, teacher's roll sheets, and student absence slips.

1. "I left my P.E. clothes at my girlfriend's house." — Mr. Inman (Social Studies)
2. "My little brother ate it." — Mr. Clarke (Science Dept.)
3. "It blew in the swimming pool." — Mrs. Baughman (Music Dept.)
4. "The dog wet on my P.E. clothes." — Mrs. Samman (P.E. Dept.)
5. "I was taken hostage by some Martians and they kept my homework but let me go." — Mr. Henkle (Social Studies)
6. "I was taken aboard a ship and a Dolphin jumped up and grabbed my arm so I couldn't write. I managed to escape at 4:00 a.m." — Mr. Bumatay (Music Dept.)
7. Mrs. Unsicker (Business Dept.)

Here, we have a very funny secretary who describes herself as "no frills, plain wrap, generic brand." She enjoys reading, watching movies, listening to music, and spending time with her family. But at Bolsa, she spends her time enrolling and testing new students, checking out students, answering phones and filing transcripts. A student better enunciate his/her name properly or she'll ask, "How do you pronounce your name?" Bolsa has a strange effect on her — she just might answer the telephone by saying, "Bolsa Grande Hospital!" Yes, Bolsa does seem to be a hospital at times.

"My mother bleached it"

This teacher used to rear children before she joined the math department here at Bolsa last year. Here is a picture of her when she was young, but now she is tall, has dark hair, and wears glasses. Here is an extra clue — she is left-handed. This lefty likes to ski, cook, and read when she does not have the challenge of correcting math quizzes and tests. She dislikes being asked when the class period ends because, as she says, "Mathematics is not a democratic subject." In addition to teaching mathematics, she also teaches French.

4. "My dog ate it!" — Miss Lee (Special Education)
5. "I can't work at the desk because I'm allergic to stamp padding." — Mrs. Osborn (Librarian)
6. "My dad backed the car over my papers, so they all have tread marks on them." — Mrs. Macris (English Department)
7. "My grandparents inadvertently packed my homework and took it to Florida." — Mrs. Burwell (Language Department)
8. Did you guess? It was Mrs. Darone!
9. Yes, that's Mrs. Macris!

This teacher belongs to the English department, and when she is not teaching, she likes beachcombing, reading, and doing needlework. She has a very interesting past. She was a proofreader for insurance underwriters, a comptometer operator for the New York Telephone Company, a restaurant hostess, and even a bass player in a band. She wants to receive compositions in ink, and she likes the compositions to be "like a girl's skirt — long enough to cover the subject but short enough to make it interesting." She's also extremely unusual. Who else would describe herself as an "endomorph"?

"I couldn't get into my locker."

This active teacher works out, runs, skies, reads, and plays the drums in a band which plays Top 40 music. The drummer boy belongs to the English and Social Science Departments and is 5'10", weighs 175 lbs., has brown curly hair, and has blue eyes. He likes students to "focus" and would like to know fewer "flakey people." He has had a varied past, ranging from a commercial artist to an electrician's helper to a musician. To many of his students, he is known as "Big Guy." One last hint for those of you who still haven't guessed, he's also the yearbook and newspaper advisor.

4. I got in a fight with my sister and she ripped it up!" — Mr. Peralta (Special Education Department)

What do you do with an ex-English teacher who is blonde and blue-eyed? Here is a hint — try and ask her if you can have your schedule changed because she works in the guidance office and has fun as a counselor. She enjoys reading, going to the theater, watching movies, and traveling. But you probably won't find her in a car; she dislikes mechanical equipment that breaks down. She'll be traveling by train where she won't have to ask: "Why do you want to change your schedule?" On the other hand, she might be asked that question.

5. "The dog went poop on the homework." — Mr. Berro (Social Studies)
6. "I don't accept excuses!" — Ms. Leonhart (Business Department)
7. Mr. Clark — Industrial Arts Department
8. The adorable Mr. Holly.
9. Mrs. Reed rattles her way through Bolsa.

"It got stolen"

Bolsa Grande now has a counselor that used to work for the police department and the Orange County Probation Department Juvenile Hall. But instead of helping juvenile delinquents, he now helps the students here. This 5'8", semi-chunky man with thin brown hair and blue eyes takes delight in cabinetmaking. But if his creation doesn't turn out to be a cabinet, he'll say, "It's not my fault!" He also enjoys the thrilling speeds that he can achieve on the ski slopes. That's why he dislikes driving behind a driver travelling at 35 m.p.h. in the fast lane at dinner time. Don't get in his way!

This teacher belongs to the Foreign Language Department. In addition to the languages she teaches, she also speaks French. Her multi-lingual abilities reflect her interest in reading and Etymology, but she also enjoys sewing. Most students associate her with the phrase: "I have never been accused of being fair." And she is known for her dislike of sunflower seeds and the brushing of hair in the classroom. This language teacher is 5'3", has hazel eyes and dark ash blonde hair. Before entering the teaching profession, she was a student, just like the rest of us. Here's an extra hint — she's in charge of the cheerleaders. Rah rah!!

"I don't listen to excuses"

People in her profession are stereotyped as stern and tough, wearing clean white clothes and padded shoes. But this person is not mean; instead, she disperses tender loving care and sends students back to class, not to bed. She tells the students, "No, I don't give students aspirin." She also doesn't charge her patients. She enjoys sewing, reading, and traveling around the world. Bolsa's "Florence Nightingale" has a very positive outlook on life, her job, and herself.

"It could be worse!" — That's how this secretary describes herself. Her job revolves around schedules as she puts schedules into the computer, removes schedules from the computer, and changes and rearranges them also. But she takes time out from her busy schedule to travel, read, and listen to classical music. Here's another hint — most of us would know her when she says, "Your counselor is out on the grounds at this time." She also helps boys remove fingernail polish from their nails. That was the most unusual thing she ever helped a student do.

Varsity Football Strives for Matador Victories

"The varsity football team did not do as well as expected this year. Our overall record was 2-8 which placed us sixth in the league," said head coach Greg Shadid. The team consisted of 36 players, 20 of whom were returning lettermen.

According to Coach Shadid, the team's best game was against Rancho Alamitos when the players moved the ball very effectively, and made few mistakes. Chris Matney, who had a fantastic season with 654 yards rushing, said that the spirit of the team was very high considering the problems they had. "The two major problems were the injuries suffered and our inconsistency on offense and defense," said Dave Valdez and Craig Willie.

When asked about next year, Coach Shadid and his assistants felt that it would be a lot better despite all the problems and difficulties. With all the returning lettermen and players from the J.V. and freshmen teams, Bolsa can look forward to a successful season next year.

A Winning Attitude

The Junior Varsity football team had a good season with an overall record of 3-2 which placed them third in the league behind La Quinta and Los Amigos. The team consists of 28 players guided by Coach Doser and assistant coach Tim Hurley.

When Coach Doser compared this team to last year's team, he said, "It was a complete turn-around. The team and the spirit remained very strong, helping us to deal with all the injuries." Sam Cross, a wide receiver and defensive back, praised the coach's techniques and the support that was given. Paul Howell, who averaged over a hundred yards per game, said that he was pleased with the season's outcome and with the team's place in the league.

Coach Doser looks forward to next year, saying, "The playing will be good on all levels because of the progression of players and a winning attitude carried over by the freshmen."

Frosh Football Captures Title

The 1984-85 freshmen football team has won the league championship under head coach Dane Valdez. This young, talented team has a 10-0 record and outscored its opponents 240-8; the 8 points came from Buena Park.

When Damon Fisher, quarterback and defensive safety, Travin Lui, running back and linebacker, and Fred Jefferson, defensive and offensive tackle, were asked about the team's overall spirit, all three replied, "There was great spirit and togetherness. We were like a family." Damon felt that they were intimidated by larger teams, but when it came to playing time, Bolsa showed the opponents how it was done! All three attributed the team's success to the coaching. Travin said, "The coaches were great!", and Fred commented, "They worked us hard at practices and it showed in the games."

As for their outlook on the following years, they want to stay together and take the C.I.F. championship in their varsity years.

The varsity waterpolo team had a reasonably successful season, 8-11, with the help of Coach Mark Williamson and Captain Brian Howe. This year, there were nine members on the varsity team. Four of the best, strong, returning players were Brian McCreedy, Brian Howe, Craig Shimomura, and Brett Wilcox. Coach Mark Williamson felt that the most exciting game for him and the team was against Garden Grove. That game determined whether the team would go to C.I.F. Unfortunately, Bolsa lost by 14-15. This year's team has proven that they are determined to give it their all in order to make it to C.I.F. in the years to come.

The frosh/soph team had a good learning experience in the water. Coach Howard Clarke was in charge of the 14-man team led by Captain Brian Wall. The team had a difficult season but is anticipating a better season next year.

Cross Country — More M.P.G.

Bolsa's cross country team had a very productive season. With a Bolsa alumnus, Kristi Hickman, as the new coach, a different outlook on coaching was presented.

This year's team consisted of 12 members — 10 boys and 2 girls. The 12 runners ran away with 4th place in the league. Some of the returning runners were Pat Harding, Jackie Bambery, and David Perez.

All of the cross country meets were held at Mile Square Park in Fountain Valley. The team went through a lot of hard work to make the season count. During the summer, all the team members got together and practiced faithfully. The 2 female members of the team had to work especially hard because it was up to them to win the meet for the girls.

The team will have a tough season next year because of the graduating seniors. But Bolsa will prevail!

Building For the Future

This year, the Varsity Volleyball team had a most competitive season. The girls learned that it takes every person on the team pulling for one another in order to attain their goals.

Coach Bassi felt that this year was a learning experience for everyone and that a program could not be built in just one season. But she also said that "positive people get positive results." Roseann Flores, who made second team All-League commented on the team and said, "We had a lot of spirit but we had our problems. I feel we had a good season overall." Dana Assink made first team All-League and said, "Even though our record didn't show it, we played as a team, worked hard, and stuck together."

The team's record of 3-7 did not reflect the team's ability nor the camaraderie of the players. But with so much talent, next year's team looks promising.

Volleyball Setting up Victory!

The Junior Varsity volleyball team had an exciting season this year. The girls had a league mark of 6-4 which placed them in second place in the league.

Coach Murray said that she was "very proud of the team, and the girls developed into every sense of the word; they should be proud of themselves". The team leader and second year player, Marlene Barbero, had a fine season, showing much leadership on the court. Marlene felt that everyone played an important role as a part of the team, and she also said, "At the beginning of the season, we all had our differences, but Coach Murray taught us what it meant to be a team out on the court. We all had fun, and we're all looking forward to next year".

With all this enthusiasm, talent, and anticipation, the team ought to have an even finer season next year.

J.V. II Showed Great Potential

The J.V. II Volleyball team had a very tough season this year. The members of the team worked well together and achieved the basics needed to further their volleyball pursuits.

According to Coach Bessette and Karen Clements, the team's strong point was its greater positive attitude, but its main problem was serving. Even though the team's record was 3-7, the players showed great potential.

At the volleyball banquet the following people received awards: Karen Elliot, Lori Stewart, and Kay Bunker. The Coaches Award went to Karen and Lori; Kay was the Most Improved Player.

The girls are anticipating a better season next year and they know that they'll do better. Let's block our opponents!

A Successful Season For V. Tennis

Topspin? Slice? Drop Volley? What do these terms mean? The Successful varsity tennis team can explain these terms to you and me. With a season record of 5-5, the team made it to C.I.F. and was led by Jody Nichols.

Jody has been varsity singles #1 for four years and has had a successful tennis career here at Bolsa. She feels that this year's team was better than last year's. The team had very strong doubles teams and were a close group. But Jody felt that the girls were not serious enough and were not trying hard enough. There was much more fun in playing around than hard work. Jody is very optimistic about next year's team. However, some of the varsity seniors would have graduated. But the other players will be returning with experience.

The varsity tennis team was coached by Tammy Davis. With a successful first season, Bolsa can expect many more.

J.V. Volleys for Victory

The girls varsity and junior varsity tennis teams had one thing in common during their 1984-1985 season — their records of 5-5. While the varsity team went to C.I.F., the junior varsity team ended up third in the league after #1 La Quinta and #2 Garden Grove.

The team was coached by Dave Abella and consisted of 9 players. The strong points of the team were the #1 singles player, Khanh Dang, and the #1 doubles teams of Doreen Day and Melissa Barnes. According to Melissa, everyone on the team got along very well and had high team spirit. Khanh and Melissa agreed that the team's weaknesses were its inconsistency and their weak baseline game as compared to their strong serve-and-volley game. As for the coaching, Melissa felt that Dave was the best coach for them.

With many of this year's players returning, next year's team should be stronger and more experienced. Serve up the championship, girls!

Wrestling Pins Their Opponents

Bolsa was the pre-season favorite in our league, but with the injuries to major people, Bolsa ended with a disappointing 3rd place. In this individual contact sport, the team had an overall record of 4-2. With the help of third year coach Kellough Price, the wrestlers improved their techniques and physical fitness. He said that each individual had shown an astonishing improvement. But injuries to people as Chuck Baer, Kenny Torres, and Russell Reeder have decreased the potency of this team. Bolsa was ranked 9th in C.I.F. and some of the wrestlers went to C.I.F. and showed their winning styles.

V. Basketball Shoots for Success

With every bounce of the ball, this year's boys varsity basketball team displayed its talent. Coached by Tony Lipold, this year's players revealed poise and balance. Highlights of the season included the victory over Long Beach Wilson which featured some fancy shooting by Kelly Graves. The Homecoming game against Los Amigos was another thriller Bolsa produced. Pat Swoboda was the sharp-shooter for the offense, and Tom Afdahl hustled on defense. As an all-around player, Nam Cao was most valuable. "He knows how to handle the ball and control the tempo," said Brent Rudy. Overall, the action on the court made for an exciting, inspiring season.

J.V. Gains Valuable Experience

This year's junior varsity basketball team, being coached by Greg Shadid, showed great effort and willingness. Coach Shadid felt that this year's team expressed its good qualities by the extreme hustle at the games and practices and also the effort put into the job of rebounding, offensively and defensively. As a result of the team's great output and spirit, they took 4th place in league. Coach Shadid had good feelings about this team and the season that was played. He is looking forward to a stronger and better successful year with the upcoming players from the freshman and sophomore championship teams.

"I have never been so pleased with a team in my ten years of teaching" was how the sophomore coach Mr. Martin described this team. This team has been a very dedicated group of players. Even with their major drawback of not having enough tall players, they still managed to be very high on team spirit. The team's strengths have been their ability to shoot accurately and quickly, and having a winning attitude. The best way to describe the progress of this team is by Coach Martin — "We played over our own heads for so long that now playing well has become normal for us."

Looking to

Bolsa's teams of the future rely on the achievement of the underclassmen teams. This year's freshmen basketball team showed it's ready to meet that challenge.

The team launched its attack on the court with starters Damon Fisher, guard, Mac Lologo, center, Thanh Nguyen, forward, Travin Lui, forward, and Jim Ussey, guard. The defense was sparked by the talents of Lologo. The outstanding offensive players included all of the starters.

During league play, the team represented Bolsa extremely well, owing their success to hard work and good coaching. With the improvement after every game, the freshmen are sure to become a major force for Bolsa in the future.

Varsity Soccer: Super!

With talent and pride, the varsity soccer team, coached by Mr. Holst, had a good season and finished 3rd place in the league. This year's team consisted of 22 members. Two of the players that did most of the scoring throughout the season were Jose Cueva and Jim Miller. Jose played right wing and center, and Jim played center half and was a leading scorer. One of the toughest games for the team was against La Quinta. Unable to defeat them, Bolsa came up with a tie. The team was under pressure, but they survived to make it to CIF. That was their goal!

The girls varsity team attributes its success this season to the members ability to work together and having very valuable players on the team. Some of the members were Caroline Matney, Lori Weir, guards, on offensive, and Roseann Flores, guard and forward, on defensive.

With the new coach Mr. Inman, the team felt very confident that he was the reason they had improved so much during the year. Mr. Inman said, "One thing has remained fairly constant with this team — their competitiveness and their willingness to play hard". The returning players are Roseann Flores, Mitzi Huff, Caroline Matney, Doreen Day, and Gina Martin.

Girls Show Spunk

The disadvantage of short height did not stand in the way of this year's junior varsity girls basketball team. They fought hard, driving onward to overcome their handicap. The starting squad consisted of Thu Nguyen, guard, Kim Tantardini, guard, Arpie de Guzman, forward, Lori Myers, forward, and Dawn Stittsworth, center. The rest of the team was made up by Sue Stevens, Angella Mueller, Lily Ho, and Barleara Tulia. Thu Nguyen headed the offense, and Dawn Stittsworth led the defense in rebounds. The team's power was the ability of the quick guards to shoot from the outside. Building for the future, this short, aggressive team played an exciting season.

Girls Soccer Kick into Competition

This year was the first Bolsa formed a girls soccer team. Kim Engel, one of the players on the team, and Mrs. Samman, a P.E. teacher, helped start the girls team. The team consisted of 15 members: 3 seniors, 4 sophomores, and 8 freshmen. The girls had a lot of work to do, but the hard work did not pay off as the team did not have such a great season. Most of this year's players will return next year and improve their skills and have a better season. This year's coach was Kristi Hickman, a graduate from Bolsa.

With returning players and players moving up from J.V., the Varsity baseball team is well-rounded offensively and defensively. With their ability and potential, Bolsa was expected to make the play-offs. The defending Garden Grove league champs did not have one outstanding player; it was a team effort. The team's weak point, its hitting, was compensated by the enthusiasm displayed by its members. Bolsa continued its upward trend as a major factor in the Garden Grove league and showed that Bolsa could only get better as players gained more experience.

J.V. Swings to Win

Coached by Mr. Holst, the eighteen-member junior varsity baseball team played very well and had a fine season. There were many returning players to add experience to this team. Thought of mainly as a team with good offense, the team's major problem was pitching.

Bolsa's toughest rival was Garden Grove. With great enthusiasm and diligence, the team practiced hard and was a tough opponent for all teams it faced. The varsity team will be an excellent one as these young men move up the ranks and contribute to the team.

Frosh-Soph Baseball Is A Hit!

The Frosh/Soph baseball team had a very rewarding season this year. They had a great time building confidence and gaining experience. The team showed much enthusiasm for each and every game. They also showed improvements with every game. These young players realized that this season was the time to develop their potential so they could be prepared for the J.V. and Varsity levels. The accomplished athletes provided Bolsa with a winning baseball team. And fortunately, many of the players on this year's team plan on returning next year to play either J.V. or Varsity.

In The Swing of Things

The tennis team did quite well this year, beginning the season with four wins and three losses. According to this year's coach, Mr. Olson, not only did the players have better attitudes, they also had more desire to win.

To start the season, the team sold candy bars in order to raise money for uniforms. The best players this year were Larry Portwood, Hung Chi Nguyen, and Itaru Ito. There were also many J.V. players such as Jimmy Usey, Victor Nguyen, and Yun Sok Choe with the potential to be good players on next year's team. Mr. Olson's philosophy on improvement can be summarized in this thought-provoking statement: "You play like you practice!"

A Striking Success Story

This softball team was basically the same as last year's except they've grown a year with experience. Since softball is a team sport, Coach Kodee felt the biggest asset to the team was the team itself. The gaol Coach Kodee had was to have a season that each individual could gain from — whether that meant winning or losing. She also hoped each person had a positive experience. The team finished with a very good record and looks forward to the coming years.

J.V. Pitches to Victory

This year's J.V. softball team was basically the same as last season's, with the addition of six new players. The team's strong point was its defense, with most of last year's experience returning. Hitting proved to be an obstacle for the team limiting their scoring abilities. The team felt its toughest competition was L.Q. and Grove, but when the members played as a team and not as individuals, they were unbeatable. The team's pre-season record of 8-3 proved to be a good indicator of things to come, with the team finishing in the top three in league.

Bolsa's Tidal Wave

Bolsa's varsity swim team has expended much effort to make its way to C.I.F. This year, the team consisted of 35 members. Every morning, just before school begun at 6:00 a.m., during 6th period, and after school, the swim team practiced at the pool. The team was willing to work hard in order to have success when reaching C.I.F. The swim coaches were Mr. Clarke, Mr. Henkle, and Mr. Williams. These three gave much support to their team throughout the season. With the coaches' advice and strenuous practice sessions, the team swam to success.

Bolsa's Striders

The B.G. track team has taken great strides to the top. Even though the team was not as big as the rest of the teams, it was still putting and showing much effort. Many of this year's members returned from last year's team. The coaches were Kristi Hickman, Kelloge Price, Mr. Avery, and Mr. Black. These coaches were really helping and pushing their runners to make this a good year and a great season. For many of the team members, this year was a learning experience. For them, it was the first time to show their running abilities and potential. The team expected and got a very exciting season.

Watch The Birdie

Every spring, badminton is the sport that gathers the least attention. Yes, badminton is a legitimate sport — it's a quick game that requires stamina and excellent eye-hand coordination. It's also a co-ed sport, and Bolsa had 27 players on our team. With coaches Miss Bessette and Miss Davis at the helm, Bolsa was expected to finish the season in the top three. The top player was Jody Nichols who was also a top tennis player. All members of the team practiced faithfully which yielded positive results. And they had fun, too!

To my bestst friend !

Dearest Claws -

Hey, it's all over. We won't be seeds for long Dakes. We're soon to be the Sophs of '88 ! Aren't you glad nobody'll make fun of how clumsy or lame we are just 'cuz we're freshmen ? Well, we've made it through the year. We've had so many unbelievable problems later in the year but we both stuck them.
Thanx for being around when I needed ya Claws.
I really appreciated that, and, for the years to come I'll always be here for you anytime K. So, when you do have a problem or just need a friend to talk to, you have my number. It's been great being one of your closest friends. I'll never forget this year. And about the parties -- don't worry, we'll have lots of time to make up for it. I'm really not sure about "Sadies" but most likely I'll be 2nd. I'm writing so much in here,
I have writer's till cramp ! Hey Claws, wake up !!
Next year's gonna be a great year ! No more bad Crowds to influence bad me. Only angel Clouds and Price for V. will turn Bad Tom into a pussycat!
Let me finish my last lines to your other friends could sign too. Have the greatest summer of all and I'll be seeing ya around.

Love ya lots,
Arpie
